Partner Updates

You may be wondering, what is a missional priest-in-charge? (MPIC) Since this is my first time in this quarter-time position, so am I! According to my letter of agreement, I am here to help you “to re-imagine and re-engage its vocation in new and life-giving ways.”

Calling on the gifts for ministry of all in the parish, the MPIC “is a prophetic and challenging leader who calls to new possibilities and bold ventures.” In other words, you and I are to be partners in finding new and satisfying ways to do God’s work in the world.

My experience in leading parishes over the past twelve years tells me that our work will not be without its challenges and possibly conflict. Change is difficult! Oftentimes, many of us find that church is the only refuge from the alarming rate at which our lives and the world in general is changing! It may be comforting to try to continue the same rituals of parish life that are familiar and have seemed appropriate in the past. Resistance to change is very understandable!

In addition, change for change’s sake is not useful. We do not want to “throw the baby out with the bathwater,” and remake everything at Grace anew. So many things are perfectly wonderful about this place. We have so many gifted and committed lay ministers and leaders. The Holy Spirit is evident here in the gentleness and positive energy that accompanies any gathering. The spirit of Shalom, or welcome and true hospitality, greets all who enter the doors.

Yet, as is so common in the Episcopal Church as a whole, the congregation is largely over the age of 65. For ministry and mission at Grace to persist, we must reach beyond our current boundaries, in every way possible.

How can we do this? In my view, it is a two-prong approach. We look to our neighbors for new ways to serve them, and we continue to maximize the major asset beyond our people, that is, our physical plant. We are a hub for twelve-step groups, but we can do more.

I was struck by the possibilities afforded by the classrooms and outdoor space of our parish, on my first visit here. My hope is that we might attract a school of some sort that aligns with our core values. I have reached out to the Early Childhood Learning department head at Capital Community College and have put an ad on Craigslist. What else can I or you do to get the word out that we have space for a school?

Secondly, the Episcopal Church is becoming increasingly proactive in addressing the challenges of climate change. People of faith must take the lead on this existential threat to humankind by providing our prophetic voice. At Grace, we can continue to “walk the talk,” by reducing our carbon footprint and solid waste. We can also collaborate with others in our community, again providing space for community action to take place.

I knew that Grace would be a good fit for me when I learned that you were the first church in the diocese with a female rector, and that you were one of the first to welcome openly gay and lesbian Christians. If we want to reach out to younger generations, it is vital that we continue to speak out against behavior that undermines the dignity of all human beings.

We can do more than speaking up, we can also change the way that we speak about God. God is not a man, yet most of the language we use to address or describe God is male. Over the next year, we will incorporate some inclusive language into our services, while maintaining the integrity of our Trinitarian understanding of God. To illustrate, “Father, Son and Holy Spirit,” can be described also as “Creator, Redeemer and Sustainer,” or “Lover, Beloved and Love Overflowing.” If you have other suggestions, let me know.

You will hear me pray the Lord’s Prayer as, “Our Father and Mother, who art in heaven.” I do this out of recognition that God includes the characteristics of a mother as much as a father- because again- God is not male. You may prefer to pray your familiar, “Our Father, who art in heaven, or “Our Father in Heaven.” Please feel free to pray in the words that are most deeply meaningful to you.

You may have noticed that we have incorporated prayers from the New Zealand Prayer Book. This prayer book was written a little after our 1979 Book of Common Prayer, and it does reflect a broader understanding of God and Creation, and it contains language that is more respectful of women as well as minorities, such as indigenous peoples. As fellow Anglicans, we join the New Zealanders in believing that God gave us reason to continue to broaden our understanding of God and humankind. I hope that you enjoy some fresh images and ways of expressing deep truths.

Please let me know your thoughts on these updates and all other aspects of parish life. I will be available to you on Tuesdays from 2-5pm. Please stop by and see me, or call and make an appointment, if you prefer.

Finally, I am excited to get to know you all better and to hear your stories. God has drawn us together as “partners,” and I am excited to hear from you where we might discover new possibilities for mission and ministry. We might begin with the question: “What do our neighbors need from us?” And go from there. It may push us out beyond our comfort zone, but one thing is certain: when we arrive, we will find that God is already there waiting for us.

Christ’s peace and warm wishes,

Trish+

Book Club: The next gathering of the Grace Church Book Club is Saturday, November 16 at 2 pm in the church library. The book selection is The Guest Book by Sarah Blake. At the October meeting we also selected the books for the next few meetings. There is no meeting in December. We usually meet the second Saturday of the month and that will continue to be the case. However, we are going to discuss it again at the next meeting and decide if it's still working for everyone. By determining our next few reads, it is hoped that one or more of the titles will peak someone's interest and that they will join us that month for the discussion. The books we have selected are:

November – The Guest Book by Sarah Blake
 December – no meeting
 January – The Great Alone by Kristen Hannah
 February – The Giver of Stars by JoJo Moyes
 March – Educated by Tara Westover

Even if you don't join us for book club, if you like to read, the above titles are an excellent selection of best seller, recently published books. The dates of the meetings will be published at a later date. Please know we also meet in April, May and June. We also select one or two books to read over the summer to discuss at our September meeting.

We are an informal, fun-loving group that enjoys reading. Most of our discussion are not only about the book, but also usually touch on a variety of related topics as well. Please join us!
 Happy Reading!

Do you like playing with money??? The counters do that every Sunday and occasionally other days.

COUNTERS NEEDED

Join us! You will have extensive training and never be left to count along. On average, we each count about once a month. Many hands make lite work. Come join us.

We are a very flexible group who trade weeks when our schedules require we do so. Most of us have been involved in this Ministry for over 15 years. Very dedicated people.

If your heart has been saying “you can do this” but you are not sure, give it a try by counting for a few weeks before making a final decision.

We do enjoy doing this each week.

Thank you for considering this Ministry,

*JoAnn Cromwell
Counting Coordinator*

Sunday School Volunteers

Although we haven't had youngsters in church for a while, we always want to keep that door open. Last year, Sunday School was offered two Sundays a month, the dates announced in the Pace of Grace.

Looking forward to the new school year, we are hopeful that with our new pastor, our church family will grow and include children.

Please consider becoming a Sunday School Volunteer!

All that is necessary is one or two Sundays a month on a flexible schedule. The time is short, around 30 minutes, and activities are provided that include a short narrative and a craft or activity sheet that is adaptable to any age. So much fun, and you don't have to be an "experienced teacher!"

Please let JoAnn or Debbie Forrest know of your interest.

JOB SEARCH WORK TEAMS

Job Search Work Teams are support groups made up of colleagues in transition looking for that next opportunity.

If you would like to join a team please email me. Email and locations below.

Due to the size of some of the meeting spaces and groups, the teams cannot accommodate walk ins.

Teams are:

- A group of people just like you who help each other in their job search, keep each other focused on their searches, and keep each other on track
- An advisory panel that can help answer questions about your search
- A place to share information, job search hints, experiences, and advice
- A networking group that may help members to learn about potential employers or company insiders
- Are based on Orville Pierson's method as described in his books:
The Unwritten Rules of the Highly Effective Job Search and Team Up!

There are 6 teams that meet every week for 2 hours
